Here is an article on the Silverton Standard from yesterday. It doesn't summarize the meeting on Wednesday night but instead summarizes Sunnyside's 9-step plan and makes a few statements that I think are incorrect. Specifically:

1. "...situation worsened in the last few years altho' recent indications that the problem has stabilized."
2. "Environmental officials have pointed to dissolved zinc being the primary culprit."

SSG is making a number of statements about costs and what is achievable with a WTP but of course all focused on Cement Creek.
